ABOUT GRE

The Graduate Record Examinations (GRE) is a standardized test that is an admission requirement for many graduate schools in the United States and Canada. The GRE is owned and administered by Educational Testing Service (ETS). The test was established in 1936 by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Each year over half a million candidates from 160 countries appear for the GRE General Test across 1,000 test centres. Over 1,200 business schools around the world accept GRE scores for graduate programmes.

WHY IS GRE IMPORTANT?

GRE scores help you secure admission in desired Master's or even Ph.D. programs in Top Universities globally

01

02

GRE scores also help you secure a merit-based funding / scholarship for your academic programs

03

Apart from the Universities offering STEM programs, 1,200+ business schools also accept GRE scores for Top MBA programs

04

A good GRE score is considered positively by the Visa Officer during your visa interview

05

These scores provide an easily quantifiable ground to the admissions committees to compare your applications with that of other applicants

GRE scores help the admissions committee of the University or College assess your preparedness for the grad school and your potential for academic success

GRE GENERAL TEST AT HOME

The GRE General Test at Home option is available everywhere, where the GRE General Test is normally available, except Mainland China and Iran. The ability to register for the At Home Test is based on the country's name that a student enter in his ETS account. If the country's name matches the country where the test is available, the student will see the "Test at Home" option as he begins registration.

GRE GENERAL TEST CONTENT

The GRE General Test measures the candidate's Verbal Reasoning, Quantitative Reasoning, Critical Thinking and Analytical Writing skills - skills that have been developed over a long period of time and are not related to a specific field of study but are comprehensively important.

The GRE General Test is a computer-delivered test that features question types that closely reflect the kind of thinking that a student will do - and the skills that he needs to succeed in today's demanding graduate school programs, including STEM, Healthcare, Business and Law.

The test-taker friendly design lets him skip questions within a section, go back and change answers and have the flexibility to choose which questions within a section he wants to answer first.
