Interesting Fact About TOEFL-iBT:

- Fact #1: The reading passages in the reading section are from real textbooks and course materials. Not fictional stories or made-up texts.
- Fact #2: TOEFL exam scores are accepted by more than 11,000 colleges and universities in 180+ countries including Canada, Australia, U.S, U.K, New Zealand and other countries throughout Europe and Asia.
- Fact #3: The TOEFL exam isn't just asking you random English questions, it is asking questions that reflect how language is really used in a university classroom.
- Fact #4: The Writing and Speaking sections of the TOEFL exam are integrated. This means that the mentioned sections will require you to listen to something and/or read in addition to reading and writing to answer the question in the task.
- Fact #5: In the listening and speaking sections, you may hear some native English-speaker accents from North America as well as from the U.K and Australia.
- Fact #6: After finishing the test, test takers will be able to view their unofficial scores of the reading and listening sections on the screen. The scoring of the writing and speaking sections will not be available until after they are graded by the raters.
- Fact #7: There are approximately 700 words in each reading section passage.

- Fact #8: The pictures shown in the listening section, specifically the lectures, are there to indicate to you how many people will be speaking, as some lectures are complete monologues as others will have some points mentioned by 1 or 2 other people.
- Fact #9: For the speaking section, responses are digitally recorded and sent to ETS where they are rated by certified raters and an automated scoring system (AI).
- Fact #10: About 6 days after you take your test, you will receive an email letting you know that your scores are ready and you will view them on your online account. Within 2 days of your scores being available online, you will be able to download and print your scores.
- Fact#11: The TOEFL test is scored both by human raters and computer. This method of scoring provides an accurate and complete picture of students' knowledge and abilities.

BONUS FACT:

Your official scores will be sent directly to your designated recipients within 11 days from the time you took your test.
